To Mr. Hayden

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President,
Columbia University,
New York City

Dear Dr. Butler:

Free Frenchmen all over the world have joined together to uphold the ideals of freedom and culture for which France has stood for 150 years - and which have been now trampled ruthlessly under-foot by the Nazis.

In the United States our organization, known as FRANCE FOREVER, is attracting in all parts of the country wide support and sympathy from Americans as well as from people of French birth. Our active membership is growing rapidly.

The enclosed folder states in brief terms our aims, our creed, and our purposes - with which we hope you will heartily agree. After reading it, we should appreciate a short statement of your views on this subject, with the permission to quote them either orally or in written form and to use your name as a member of our sponsoring committee.

Very truly yours,

G. Chinard

GILBERT CHINARD,
Professor of French Language
and Literature,
Princeton University.
